THE VOLUPTUOUSNESS OF A LAND

Garnacha is possibly the native red variety with highest international prestige. This native of the Mediterranean coast stands out for its excellent adaptation to extreme climates and less fertile soil, and for offering warm, incredibly fruity wines with good acidity.

Purple-coloured with violet reflections. Aromas of red (strawberry and cherry) and black (blackberry) fruit over a balsamic (rosemary), floral (violet) and anise background. Recalling orange peel, lollipops and liquorice. On the palate, it is sweet and quite fruity, with a slightly bitter finish.
