FRAGRANCE OF A LAND

Verdejo is among the Iberian Peninsula's most representative and unique white varieties. Perfectly adapted to drought and the less fertile clay plots of Castilla y Leon, it offers us intensely aromatic wines with a soft, fragrant fennel background. Some unique characteristics which we want to perpetuate across the Maset Ibericus collection: the winery's commitment to biodiversity and the conservation of native varieties.

Lemon-yellow in colour with golden highlights. Intense aromas of tropical fruit (pineapple), fruit with bone (peach), citrus (lemon) and dried flowers (lavender and chamomile) on a refreshing fennel background. Slightly reminiscent of peach and banana gumdrops. On the palate, it's unctuous and fruity, with the variety's trademark tart finish.
